

Learn How Formatta Is Enabling Employee Self-Service to Reduce Costs While Improving HR Service to Employees

With the pressure driven by today's global economic realities to cut costs while doing more with less, it's increasingly important to find ways to optimize existing processes to reduce costs while improving service. Dispersed environments, emerging extended supply structures, job postings and resolute efforts to reduce administrative resource are all converging on the organization and forcing change. The Formatta business process optimization solutions help you minimize costs so you can re-deploy your existing budget to developing a more productive, motivated workforce.

By optimizing forms-driven business processes for human resources with Formatta, your organization will run more efficiently and cost effectively. Formatta software helps human resources organizations create competitive advantage through reduced costs, streamlined operations, and compliance assistance and, ultimately, increased overall employee morale.

Learn how Formatta is helping human resources professionals deliver forms optimization that reduces costs while improving service, satisfaction and compliance. We will cover 3rd-generation e-forms, direct data capture, open process management, and automatic business systems integration.

Learn How Formatta Is Helping State and Local Government With Forms Optimization

Formatta Forms Optimization Improves Citizen Service and Satisfaction

State and local governments face many challenges in providing streamlining delivery of and citizen access to information. The challenge of streamlining hundreds of forms to deliver improved self-service, increased regulatory compliance, reduction of paper usage and shorter response time is daunting.

One of the key problem areas is business processes relying on paper forms. A typical state or local government agency uses hundreds of forms across all aspects of its interactions with citizens and other departments including citizen services, human resources, social services and many others. Paper and early-generation e-forms business processes are labor intensive, slow, costly, and error prone.
